

100 Dix Drive Design Concept 4

RESURGENCE

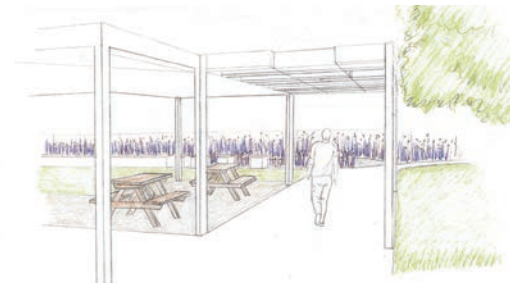

Resurgence tells the story of the site by incorporating a narrative of the river and the structure. The river is represented by a sinuous path, lined by vibrant vegetation. The forms of the structures are meant to abstractly represent the home. Forms were designed using the idea of fragments being pieced back together to create a whole form. Artistic, abstract forms tell the story of the relationship between the river and the structure. The structures on the site are a low concrete seating wall and a pergola/picnic shelter. Paths route people through the pergola structure. The perforated overhead form of the pergola structure slowly blends into a solid overhead form. The solid form serves as the roof of the picnic shelter. Picnic tables are provided under the picnic shelter for places to rest. The seating wall and the pergola/picnic shelter enclose a small intimate lawn area. The Resurgence design provides a space with a close knit feel while incorporating history and meaning into the site.

Features

- Pergola/picnic shelter
- Low seating wall
- Central lawn space
- Vibrant, densely planted walkway

① Perspective looking S toward central lawn and path

② Perspective looking S toward pergola and picnic structure

